DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-27 are pending.
2. Information disclosure statement filed June 17, 2005 has been considered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 1-5,12-13,20-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Weller (Pub. No. US 2002/0029272).

As per claims 1,12, 20 Weller anticipates:

A hypertext browser for retrieving data from a selected one of a plurality of databases in a system in which a hypertext requests are issued from a client side to a server side at fig. 3 and parg. 37,40;

a plurality of browser components on the server side, each of which is operable to retrieve data from a corresponding one of said databases at paragraph 37 and parg.40; means for receiving a hypertext request from a requester on said client side specifying data contained in one of said databases at paragraph 40-41 and fig. 3;

means responsive to receiving said request for directing said request to the browser component corresponding to said one of said databases to permit said browser component to retrieve the data specified in said request paragraph 40 and fig. 3.

Weller teaches a hypertext browser for retrieving data from a selected one of a plurality of databases in a system in which a hypertext requests are issued from a client side to a server side, a plurality of browser components on the server side, each of which is operable to retrieve data from a corresponding one of said databases , means for receiving a hypertext request from a requester on said client side specifying data contained in one of said databases ,means responsive to receiving said request for directing said request to the browser component corresponding to said one of said databases to permit said browser component to retrieve the data specified in said request at paragraphs at 37,40-41 and fig. 3.

As per claims 2,13,21 same as claim arguments above and Weller anticipates: said request specifies one of said browser components, said means responsive to receiving said request directing said request to the browser component specified in said request at paragraph 40-41.

As per claims 3,22 same as claim arguments above and Weller anticipates: said means responsive to said request generates a common portion of a hypertext reply to said requester at paragraph 40.

As per claim 4 same as claim arguments above and Weller anticipates: which said common portion comprises a header portion at parg.40.

As per claims 5 same as claim arguments above and Weller anticipates:

said common portion comprises a footer portion at parg. 40.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 6-8,14-16,23-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Weller (Pub. No. US 2002/0029272) in view of Borecki et al. (Pub. No.: US 2002/0016749).

As per claims 6,14 same as claim arguments above and Weller does not explicitly teach each of said browser components generates a browser-specific portion of a hypertext reply to said requester however Borecki does teach this limitation at page 4, paragraph 52 and fig. 8. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to combine the cited references to provide a means to select an item for purchase (paragraph 53, line 3).

As per claims 7,15,23 same as claim arguments above and Weller teaches: each of said browser components has a translator component associated therewith, said translator component intermediating between said browser component and said database and generating a request- specific portion of said browser-specific portion of said hypertext reply to said requester at paragraph 40.

As per claims 8,16,24 same as claim arguments above and Weller does not explicitly teach said browser component generates a non-request-specific portion of said browser-specific portion of said hypertext reply to said requester however Borecki does teach this limitation at page 4, paragraph 52 and fig. 8 (note: bottom left window "Featured Listings" would be a non-request –specific portion). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to combine the cited references to provide a means to select an item for purchase (paragraph 53, line 3).

7. Claims 9,17,25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Weller (Pub. No. US 2002/0029272) in view of Eager et al. (US 5,960,200).

As per claims 9,17,25 same as claim arguments above and Weller does not explicitly teach one of said databases comprises an interface repository however Eager does teach this limitation at col. 24, lines 10-11. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to combine the cited references to develop software.

8. Claims 10,18,26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Weller (Pub. No. US 2002/0029272) in view of Frey et al (Pub. No.: US 2004/0019898).

As per claims 10,18,26 same as claim arguments above and Weller does not explicitly teach one of said databases stores naming contexts however Frey does teach this limitation at p. 17, paragraph 228. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to combine the cited references to develop software.

9. Claims 11,19,27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Weller (Pub. No. US 2002/0029272) in view of in view of Herrendoerfer et al. (US 6,473,759).

As per claims 11,19,27 same as claim arguments above and Weller does not explicitly teach one of said databases stores Java classes however Herrendoerfer does teach this limitation at col.2, lines 38-39. It would have been obvious to one ordinarily skilled in the art at the time of the invention to combine the cited references to develop software.

Response to Arguments

10. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-27 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

11. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the
